

Emerald Lake Dam - Update

February 13, 2018: Upstream photo of new dam and concrete spillway. Water will be impounded where the workers are standing and a bridge will be placed on top of the concrete walls. The future bridge will be part of Emerald Lake Drive, which is the only means of ingress and egress for most homes within the subdivision. A temporary cofferdam and road, not shown, are being used for access during construction. The new structure replaces a series of metal pipes which had reached the end of their useful life.
