

CAPO3

Main Stage

5:15 - 6:15 pm

Ed Quattlebaum has been playing guitar and performing since his early teens. Rock and roll and electric guitars were his first musical loves. His early influences were The Beatles and all of the British invasion groups. While living in Savannah, Ed and several friends formed a band and played locally and in the surrounding areas for several years. They won Savannah's "Battle of the Bands" 2 years running.

Jillian Safko has been singing since she can remember. She grew up doing school performances and concerts. Her love of music has grown over the years to different instruments such as the ukulele, guitar, French horn, and trumpet. She was a part of the Spivey Hall Children's Choir, church choir, sang jazz at a local restaurant, along with playing in the marching band, concert band, and in different singing groups from middle school through college at the University of Georgia.
